Helping others to learn can be a hugely rewarding process. Not only do you have the potential to help someone to change their life, but you also get to learn from the process yourself. Good teachers, coaches and mentors are highly sought-after, and it is well worth taking the time to develop the skills needed to help others in this way.

~~Teaching, Mentoring and Coaching — SkillsYouNeed~~

The coach is not a subject expert, but rather is focused on helping the individual to unlock their own potential. The focus is very much on the individual and what is inside their head. A coach is not necessarily a designated individual: anyone can take a coaching approach with others, whether peers, subordinates or superiors.

My current path with photography is primarily geared towards two things at this time. One, to encourage and coach those that are just finding their vision within this industry and helping their talents to blossom. Two, I am working to refocus my own personal projects with a new voice in fine art photography with a sort of blend of photojournalism.
